10 YEARS IN JAIL - THEN BLAMED IT ALL ON FATBOY'S HENCHMAN

The Godfather

over heroin millions

NO HONOUR AMONG THUGS: From Arthur "Fatboy" Thompson, Tam Bagan, Blind Jonah Mackenzie and Paul Ferris tried to butter that process by getting his son the jail. Maybe.

In truth, Bagan hadn't muttered a word about Fatboy.

"Why would I want your boy jailed?" McGraw lowered his voice to a coarse whisper. "We were making a lot of money."

"In that dirty f---ing business?" The shrug had left McGraw's shoulders before he realised it.

"Ah know what ye mean. But it's the modern way."

Another shrug, apologetic this time.

"In fact, ah was about to visit young Arthur this week. Make him an offer to take care of his business while he was away. Ah know you wouldn't..."

"Nah."

"So ah thought my boys could and ashake offered him a drink, clapped him on the back - brief encounters that would earn them brownie points in pubs for the rest of their lives.

As Thompson left, his minder followed, casting his eyes this way and that over the pub crowd. Trusting no one. The way he was paid to do.

McGraw had pulled off his sting. With Fatboy out of the way, he was going to take over his territory and get rich. Richer than anyone could soon," meaning Paul Ferris, Thompson's trusted equaliser, who was finishing a jail sentence.

"Aye, so what?" asked Thompson.

"Maybe you should set something up for him?"

Thompson was already ahead of of some help. Why he had made the whole story up about Bagan and the cop. If Bagan ended up back in jail or dead, what did he care?

His so-called drug-dealing partner Fatboy would see it as a favour and McGraw would claim the credit. With the Thompsons, that was bound to be worth some business, some money.

Thompson sat and mused over what McGraw had said.

He still didn't like the man - he despised him - but his idea might have its merits.

BOMBERS weren't new in Glasgow after all. Wasn't his own mother-in-law killed in his car when the Welshes planted a bomb under it?

Didn't Big Bill Campbell's UVF crew try to bomb pubs in Glasgow?

Who better to carry out the deed. He knew the very man.

"A bomb?" Paul Ferris was lost for words. He went off to think about it. He thought better of it and decided he was leaving Thompson.

As of that day, he was out on his own for better or worse.

A few weeks later, a young, hooded man ran into Thompson's sawmill with a revolver. From a few feet, he fired.

The damp bullet hit the deck. Moving closer, he fired again. The slug dipped as it travelled, hitting Thompson in the groin. Damp ammo saved his life.

"It was they f---ers Bagan and Ferris," said the youngest Thompson son, Billy, in the visiting area of

'With Fatboy out the way, McGraw would take over his territory and get richer than anyone could imagine'

LANGDALE STREET DESIGN PROPOSAL

3D SketchFab World: <https://sketchfab.com/3d-models/langdale-project-67329d0efc7a443eb131c89066252a34>

THE 3 AIMS we agreed for Our Proposal were:

- Creative: It would include imaginative things which our community would love, but might never have thought of themselves.
- A (Better) Place for Everyone:
 - It needed to consider the needs of different people in our community, and include things for everyone.
 - It would feel like it belonged to our community -something we'd all be proud of- as then people would care for it more, and not litter and vandalise it.
 - It could “give back” something to locals (e.g. food)
 - It would make the place safer, cleaner and more beautiful for those who live there and use it.
- Buildable
 - It should be possible to build any of the imaginative things we come up with.

ZONE 1: A COMMUNITY SQUARE

Gates

- Easy to open for funerals, so the hearse can easily pass (maybe remote control?)
- A permanent entrance for cyclists, so they don't have to slow down going down the hill, and for walkers

Signs telling people what kind of a square we want it to be:

- A space by and for our community
- No dog poo please
- No litter please
- No vandalism please
- No cigarettes
- No empty or broken bottles

A Treehouse or Secret Base

- A cool den just for young people, where we can hang out, play, which is sheltered and has a nice view

“Rainbow Bridge”

- Painted by us
- Signifying all different emotions and people in a community
- Could absorb lor reflect sunlight in a way which is beautiful, or so it glows at night
- With a nice view
- With a glass roof for shelter if it rains
- With a glass floor to watch things go underneath
- Wide enough for hearses and emergency vehicles to easily get under
- With signs saying ‘no vandalism’
- If not over the road, then maybe over a pond?

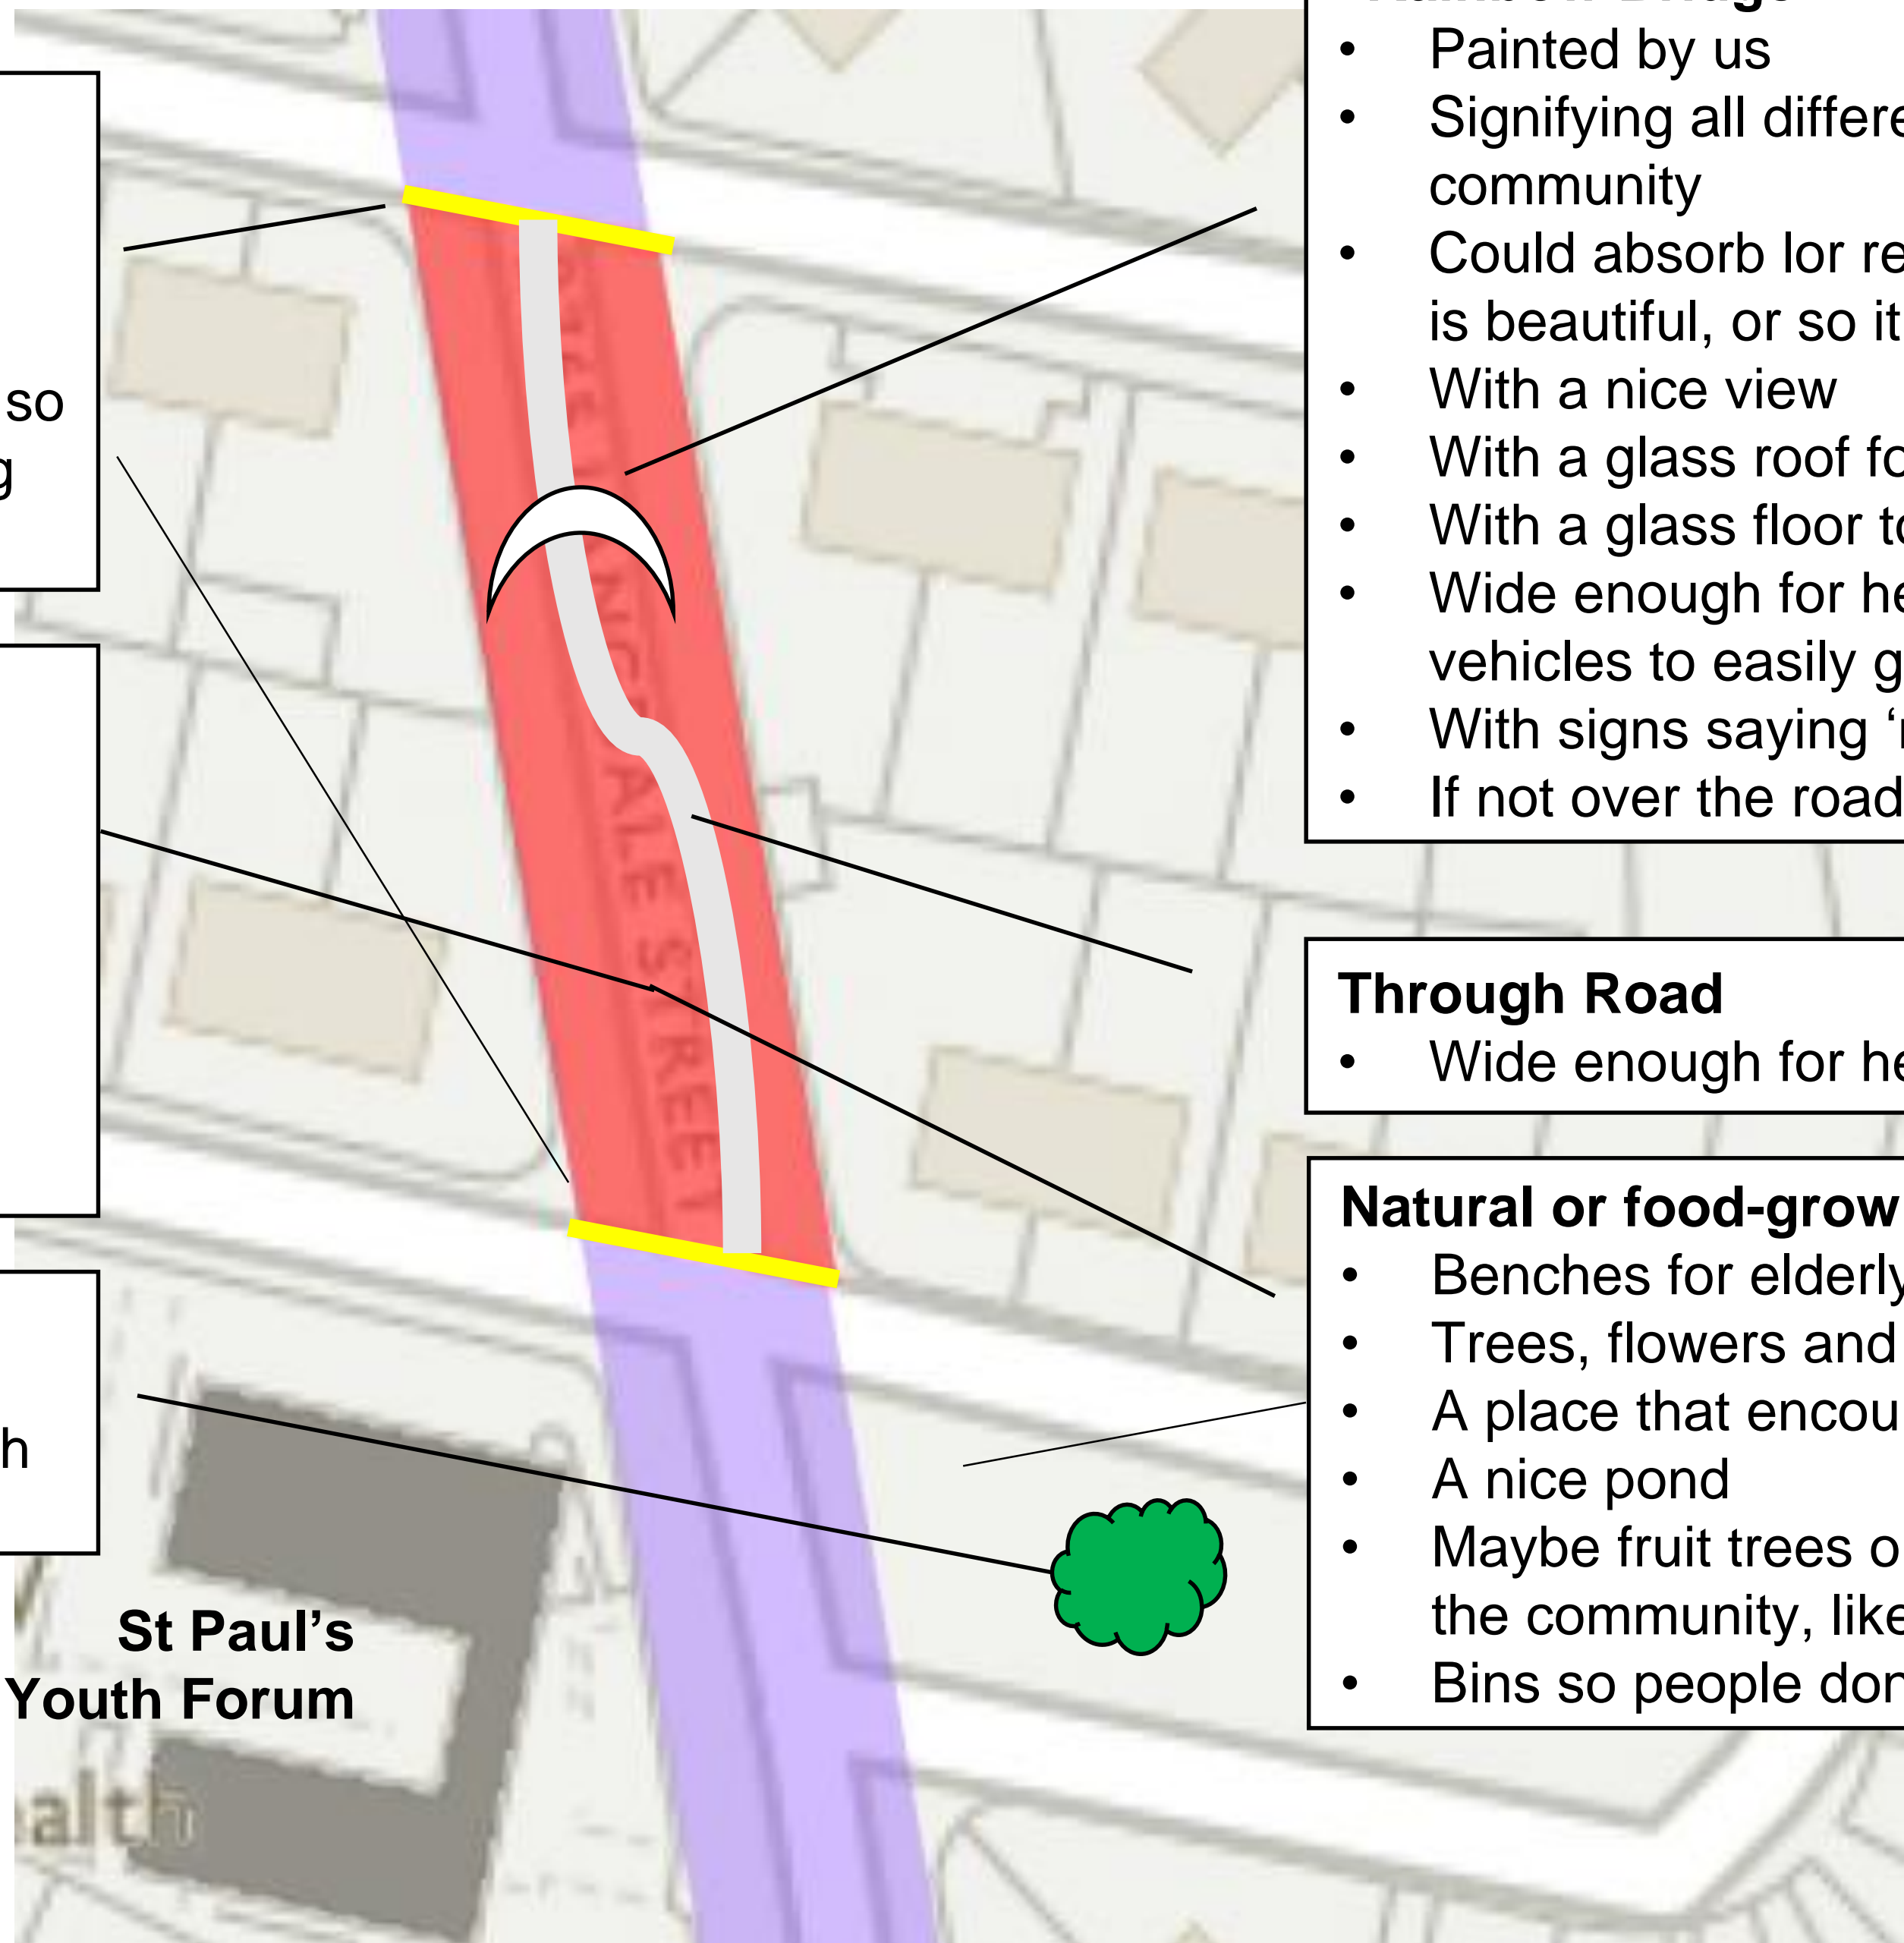

Through Road

- Wide enough for hearses, cyclists and walkers

Natural or food-growing areas

- Benches for elderly people to sit and enjoy
- Trees, flowers and grass
- A place that encourages and helps wildlife
- A nice pond
- Maybe fruit trees or areas to grow food for the community, like St Paul's Youth Forum
- Bins so people don't leave litter
